Pool & Spa Project Update: The final AFC walkthrough has been completed. The facilities maintenance team went through training with RayPak. Preventative maintenance procedures have been turned over to SCOV and we are in the process of implementing them. The punch list will continue to be tracked and managed through completion. This will be our last report on the Pool & Spa Project.

How will the Spending Authority Initiative improve Golf Operations, the Loan Room, and the Costume Closet? The most important outcome of this element of the Community Spaces Initiative is to return much-needed indoor space, currently occupied by the Loan Room and Costume Closet, to Golf Operations for golf cart and utility cart storage. These valuable golf assets need to be properly secured and protected from weather-related wear and tear. The Loan Room is a heavily used, overcrowded service that provides residents with free, convenient access to equipment for out-of-town visitors or medical recovery support. The Costume Closet, which has operated since the mid-1990s, is also very crowded. It provides costumes for many well-attended club productions, including plays, dances, and musical shows, as well as for individual resident events.

We Want Your Timeshare flyer in October Tipster has incorrect information on it. The correct information is Thursday, October 29, 10 am, WC1. Please call 602-734-5590 to RSVP.

Copper Center Community Meeting - The project architects will present the Copper Center room designs and provide an opportunity for attendees to ask questions and learn more about the design and overall project on Thursday, October 29, 1 pm, Auditorium. No Zoom, the meeting will be recorded and posted to the Copper Forward page.

Auditorium Flooring Update: The Auditorium parquet flooring issue has become more complicated than originally anticipated. As previously reported, sections of the flooring are beginning to lift and come up. Management has met with a flooring specialist, who conducted moisture readings and found elevated moisture levels in the concrete slab. The flooring contractor believes the slab may be oversaturated. To better determine the source and extent of the moisture, Management is currently working with a leak detection contractor to investigate whether there may be a leak beneath the concrete slab. The contractor will utilize a ground-penetrating radar detection system as part of this investigation. In addition, Management is arranging for core drilling of the concrete slab to further evaluate the level of saturation.

and better understand the condition of the slab. Management will also reach out to the General Contractor, O'Neil, to determine whether there are reports or documentation regarding how the replacement flooring and concrete slab were treated following the flooding that occurred during the original construction project. The hearing loop system was also damaged when portions of the flooring were pulled up. The system will require repairs, and Management will assess the extent of the damage and coordinate the necessary repairs. Management is also considering tendering the matter to our insurance carrier. Before making that determination, we are gathering the necessary information regarding the source of the moisture, the condition of the slab, and any potential connection to the previous flooding.

Interim Flooring Plan: In the meantime, Management will attempt to stabilize and improve the flooring as best as possible by having the existing surface screened and applying a one-coat sealer. This is intended as an interim measure to help the flooring perform through the season while we continue investigating the underlying issue. Ideally, any major repairs or permanent corrective work can be completed during the summer or other low-use period, when the impact to AFC operations will be minimized. At this point, we are focused on determining the cause and extent of the issue and identifying the most appropriate and cost-effective long-term solution before proceeding with any major flooring replacement or repairs.

Government Affairs will be hosting Coffee with a Cop Tuesday, November 3, 9-10 am, The Views Restaurant bar area. As always, Oro Valley Police will provide updates and listen to community concerns. The committee is interested in topics for future forums. We are currently looking at a fraud presentation, and potentially a water forum. Please send any topics for future talks to muriel@phaspirations.com.
